Sprague states that E. Howard Hunt, later arrested in the Watergate burglary, was the "station chief" for the CIA in Mexico City at the time these alleged meetings were held. Sprague says Hunt, either [illegible] "knew [illegible] were taking place and sanctioned them."

Sprague adds that he has uncovered collaborating evidence about the CIA's alleged role in JFK's death from Victor Marchetti, the former CIA executive assistant who has just published a book on the agency.

Marchetti is quoted as saying that high-level members of the CIA, including the then-Director Richard Helms, were highly concerned about New Orleans District Attorney Jim Garrison's investigation into the assassination in 1967 and 1968. Marchetti [illegible] revealed that Clay Shaw and David Ferrie, the principal targets of Garrison's investigation, were in fact undercover CIA operatives at the time President Kennedy was killed.

According to Sprague, Marchetti suspects that the CIA secretly paid for all of Shaw's legal fees during his trial with Garrison. David Ferrie died under very strange circumstances, just days after Garrison publicly linked both Ferrie and Shaw to the alleged assassination plot.

The government's Warren Report on the assassination has acknowledged that accused assassin Lee Harvey Oswald traveled to Mexico City in the fall of 1963 — shortly before the assassination. But the commission concluded that Oswald's Mexico trip was unrelated to the assassination.
